

15 Learning Games for Preschoolers

Games for preschoolers provide so many learning opportunities. We make sure to play these types of games in our classroom regularly. Sometimes we will play them as a large group at circle time, sometimes in groups of 4 during small groups, and they are also used as an activity during centers time. I am always looking for more ideas, so recently I got out my planner, opened up Pinterest, and went hunting for learning games. There were many available, but these are 15 that I loved the most. Oh, and a couple are my own, just because I love to share my ideas, too!

This post contains affiliate links for your convenience.

15 Learning Games for Preschoolers

1. Recognize numbers and colors: counting game with play dough.
2. Count the flowers: spring math game. (Fun a Day)
3. Practice sharing: rainbow fish game. (Science Sparks)

Distinguish sounds: the sound box game.

4. (Let's Play Music)
5. Count the flowers: spring flower game.
6. Work on coordination: hook a duck game. (Play and Learn Every Day)
7. Count the spots: ladybug counting game. (Modern Preschool)
8. Build color skills: clothespin color game. (School Time Snippets)
9. Count objects: number card game.
10. Work on counting and color skills: Pete the Cat math game. (Buggy and Buddy)
11. Space theme: moon math game. (Stir the Wonder)
12. Learn colors: color match game. (Mama Bee Simple)
13. Move while learning numbers: Olaf bowling game (A Little Pinch of Perfect)
14. Learn letters: Chicka Chicka Boom Boom alphabet bean bag game (Meri Cherry)
15. Move while learning numbers: Hop on Pop game (Cutting Tiny Bites)

More ideas for young children:

